

- [10] C. N. et al., “Relationships of job, age, and life conditions with the causes and severity of occupational injuries in construction workers,” Int. Arch. Occup. Environ. Health, vol. 77, no. 1, pp. 60–66, 2004.
- [11] Y. Kotera, P. Green, and D. Sheffield, “Work-life balance of UK construction workers: relationship with mental health,” Constr. Manag. Econ., 2019.
- [12] S. Eaves, D. E. Gyi, and A. G. F. Gibb, “Building healthy construction workers: Their views on health, wellbeing and better workplace design,” Appl. Ergon., vol. 54, pp. 10–18, 2016.

Biographies

Shabir Hussain Khahro is a Lecturer at College of Engineering, Prince Sultan University, Riyadh, Saudi Arabia. He earned his BE in the field of Civil Engineering, MUET Pakistan and ME in Construction Management from the same institute. He also did MSc in Geographic Information System from University Teknologi PETRONAS, Malaysia. He has more than 10 years of research and academic experience at different universities. He is author of more than 70 publications of national and international repute. His research area includes; Construction Management, Multi-Criteria Decision Making, Project Management, GIS.

Tauha Hussain Ali is a Professor at Department of Civil Engineering, Mehran University of Engineering & Technology, Jamshoro, Pakistan. He has BE Civil Engineering, ME Project Management and PhD Civil Engineering at his academic account. He has more than 20 years of research and academic experience at different universities. He is author of more than 50 publications of national and international repute. His research area includes; Construction Management, Risk Management, Construction Health & Safety and Project Management.

Zubair Ahmed Memon is a Professor at College of Engineering, Prince Sultan University, Riyadh, Saudi Arabia. He has BE and ME Civil Engineering and PhD Civil Engineering at his academic account. He has more than 20 years of research and academic experience at different universities. He is author of more than 45 publications of national and international repute. His research area includes; Construction Management, IT in Construction Industry and Project Management.

Nafees Ahmed Memon is a Professor at Department of Civil Engineering, Mehran University of Engineering & Technology, Jamshoro, Pakistan. He has BE and ME Civil Engineering and PhD Civil Engineering at his academic account. He has more than 20 years of research and academic experience at different universities. He is author of more than 50 publications of national and international repute. His research area includes; Construction Management, Quality Management and Project Management.